STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Puerto Rico, as many other jurisdictions, is undergoing an energy crisis. Thus, there is a dire need to establish specific measures to address this problem in order to facilitate and promote energy production diversification. To achieve such diversification, it is necessary to establish a new energy public policy for Puerto Rico.

At present, nearly seventy percent (70%) of Puerto Rico’s electric power is generated from oil. Oil price increases every year, and it is expected to continue increasing. On the other hand, the unmeasured use of oil-derived energy sources contributes to the climate change phenomenon that greatly concerns the people of Puerto Rico. Although the climate change is a global phenomenon, there is no doubt that our current energy policy is contributing thereto. Therefore, the Government of Puerto Rico is compelled to set the necessary conditions in order for future generations on the Island to be able to progress and develop within a healthy environment, providing, in turn, the necessary tools to create new economic development sources.

The Government's obligation of promoting the Island's sustainable development is not new, since it arises from the Constitution of Puerto Rico approved in 1952. Article VI, Section 19 of the Constitution sets forth that: "it shall be the public policy of the Commonwealth to conserve, develop, and use its natural resources in the most effective manner possible for the general welfare of the community..." In spite of the fact that such constitutional principle has been the basis for many Government measures and programs, the lack of specific goals that direct us to attain this objective has caused Puerto Rico to lag behind with respect to its energy policy. The truth is that we are neither taking advantage of, nor developing our natural resources to their maximum, for the general benefit of our community. The causes therefore are not unknown.

Puerto Rico's energy policy has been one-dimensional for the past sixty (60) years, which is one of the reasons for the cost of electric power in the Island, which ranks among the highest in comparison with other jurisdictions. In fact, it is estimated that, at present, the cost of electric power in Puerto Rico is twice (2) as high in Puerto Rico than the average cost thereof in the rest of the United States, and the average Puerto Rican pays about 20 cents per kilowatt-hour (kWh). Likewise, it has been determined that the increase in the cost of electric power is mainly due to the rise in the cost of fossil fuels derived from oil.

Energy's high cost not only adversely affects our quality of life and environment, but also our economic competitiveness, since it increases the cost of doing business in Puerto Rico. The President of the United States, Barack Obama, is committed to invest $150 billion dollars in sustainable and renewable energy technology during the next decade, which investment is expected to generate five (5) million direct and indirect jobs for the United States economy in the next years.

Furthermore, reducing our oil-derived fuels dependency to generate energy has more than financial benefits. The generation of electric power through the use of sustainable renewable energy sources and alternative renewable energy sources has highly valuable attributes which shall benefit the people, since the use of this type of energy reduces air pollution and mitigates the negative pollution-associated effects on the health of our people.

Renewable Energy Certificates

Among the mechanisms to be used in order to implement the new energy public policy for Puerto Rico are energy saving measures and the use of Renewable Energy Certificates (REC or CER for its Spanish acronym). As defined in this Act, a REC is a personal property that constitutes an asset or tradable and negotiable commodity that may be purchased, sold, assigned, and transferred between persons for any lawful purpose which wholly and inseparably: constitutes the equivalent of one (1) megawatt-hour (MWh) of electricity generated by a sustainable renewable energy or alternative renewable energy source (issued and registered pursuant to this Act) and represents all environmental and social attributes, as defined.

Another objective of this new Act is to provide the residents of Puerto Rico the opportunity to be part of the new REC market and a renewable energy source market that currently exists in the United States. RECs shall be tradable and negotiable assets within and outside of Puerto Rico and, therefore, their issue shall constitute an economic value for the person who acquires, trades, or negotiates them.

Green Energy Fund

This Act creates the “Green Energy Fund of Puerto Rico” (“the Fund”) for the purpose of providing financial incentives that further the establishment of renewable energy projects in Puerto Rico and other related issues. The Fund shall be established by the Department of the Treasury of Puerto Rico as a special fund, separate from the other government funds, which shall be nourished from different revenue sources originating from taxes, state and federal incentives, donations from private non-governmental entities (however related to the generation of sustainable renewable and alternative renewable energy) and fines. These monies appropriated and credited to the Fund shall be used solely for activities and disbursements consistent with the public interests sought by this Act.

The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall be the entity responsible for the administration of the monies available in the Fund in order to grant incentives to sustainable renewable and alternative renewable energy projects (together with and for incentive purposes, “green energy”). The incentives meant to further the development of green energy projects in the Island shall have the purpose of promoting the use of renewable energy sources at a residential, commercial, and industrial level. Prompting these sectors to achieve more energy independence favors a more sustainable development and reduces the costs directly related to market fluctuations.

The Fund shall operate under the supervision of an Evaluating Committee comprised of three (3) members. The members of the Evaluating Committee shall be the Secretary of the Department of Economic Development and Commerce, the President of the Government Development Bank, and the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall be ex officio members. Among the main duties of the Evaluating Committee are to receive and review periodical reports from participating financial institutions and cooperatives that shall provide incentives for small-scale green energy projects. The Committee shall certify the quarterly competitive adjudication processes for medium-scale green energy projects, as well as approve RECs purchase agreements for large-scale green energy projects.

Green Energy Incentives

At present, incentives to stimulate green energy development and generation in Puerto Rico are contained in different laws, which are impractical and lack cohesion. Moreover, the lack of a uniform incentive scheme to stimulate and develop green energy projects in Puerto Rico has impaired the development of alternatives to reduce our energy-generation costs and our oil-dependency as the main energy source. Likewise, the present tax benefit scheme of the Government of Puerto Rico has been inadequate as to the creation of a sufficiently attractive market for the development of green energy projects and to the implementation of a renewable energy policy in Puerto Rico.

This Act combines the existing economic benefits with the purpose of reforming, organizing, and standardizing such incentives relative to the creation and the use of sustainable renewable and alternative renewable energy sources. Furthermore, this Act provides new benefits to stimulate green energy projects. The reorganization and creation of a uniform economic benefit scheme shall turn Puerto Rico into a highly-competitive jurisdiction in terms of the available incentives for the development of sustainable renewable and alternative renewable energy projects.

Tax Benefits

Likewise, this Act provides tax benefits that shall be beneficial for small, medium, and large-scale sustainable renewable and alternative renewable energy projects. These benefits are adjusted to the specific needs and characteristics of each production level. Among the benefits available in this Act are reimbursements to reduce in part the costs of production unit installation in the case of small and medium-scale green energy projects. At the same time, any person who acquires a REC in order to comply with the requirements of the renewable portfolio standard, may deduct the REC acquisition cost from his/her regular income when retiring or cancelling the REC. Furthermore, producers who comply with certain requirements may apply for tax exemption decrees. The granting of such decrees shall allow producers to obtain preferential rates for income tax, personal and real property tax, and municipal licenses, among others. This Act also provides benefits that may be applied for by real property owners where green energy production units are located.

In brief, this Legislature complies with its constitutional mission of ensuring that Puerto Rico exploits its natural resources, in order to guarantee the welfare of future generations of Puerto Ricans by establishing an energy policy that guarantees its people the development of renewable and sustainable electric power in the Island and a new source of development.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF PUERTO RICO:

Section 2.4. – RECs Characteristics and Acquisition by the Green Energy Fund. –

- (b) The RECs to be issued annually pursuant to this Act shall indicate the total megawatt-hours (MWh) of energy generated from a renewable sustainable or alternative sustainable energy source, the year in which such energy was generated, and the source that generated it. The ownership of each REC issued shall be held by the energy source that generated the electricity until the ownership of each REC is sold, assigned, or otherwise lawfully transferred.
- (c) For tax purposes, the purchase, sale, assignment or transfer of RECs shall have the following effects:
 - (1) Tax Base – The tax base for each REC for a business engaged in green energy production that generates RECs from its operations in Puerto Rico shall be equal to the RECs issue and processing costs, pursuant to Section 2.5 of this Act. The basis of the RECs shall not include production costs of the green energy generated in the operation related to such RECs.
 - (2) Regular Income – Any income or proceeds derived by a business engaged in the production of green energy from the sale of RECs originating from its operations in Puerto Rico shall be treated as a regular income derived from such operation in Puerto Rico, and as a Green Energy Income for the purposes of this Act, except that said income or proceed shall be exempt from licenses and other municipal taxes.

- (3) Capital Gain – RECs shall be excluded from the definition of capital assets, as provided in Section 1121 of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico. However:

 - (iii) Any person engaged in the trade or business of purchasing and reselling RECs shall be excluded from this treatment.
- (4) Retirement and Cancellation of RECs – Any person who, in conducting such trade or business, to comply with the requirements of the renewable portfolio standard, acquires RECs by means of purchase, assignment or transfer in order to promote green energy sources development, may deduct from his/her regular income the cost of acquisition of the REC or the basis acquired in the assignment or transfer thereof. This deduction shall not be available until the REC is retired or cancelled.
- (5) Income from Source Within Puerto Rico – The proceeds of the sale or disposal of a REC outside of Puerto Rico, generated in the operation of a green energy project located in Puerto Rico performed by individuals who are not residents of Puerto Rico or by a foreign entity not engaged in a trade or business in Puerto Rico shall not be deemed to be income from sources in Puerto Rico.
- (6) RECs shall be exempt from municipal or state property taxes.

Section 2.5. – RECs Processing by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office. –

The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may establish, for each processed REC, a reasonable processing fee to be paid by the owner of the REC. The processing fee may be including the value of each processed REC. Any income earned by means of the processing fees imposed shall be used to take the proper and necessary actions that ensure the attainment of the purposes and objectives of this Act.

Section 2.6. – Puerto Rico Green Energy Fund Administration. –

- (a) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office is hereby empowered to administer the Green Energy Fund of Puerto Rico, which shall oversee the development and implementation of green energy sources initiatives, projects, and programs, as established in this Act.

- (c) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall be empowered to disclose, market, negotiate, purchase, sell, or otherwise lawfully transfer or assign the ownership of the acquired RECs.

Section 2.7. – Evaluating Committee. –

- (a) The operation of the Green Energy Fund shall be under the supervision of an Evaluating Committee composed of three (3) ex officio members, to wit: the Secretary of Development, the President of the Government Development Bank, and the Secretary of the Treasury, or their respective proxies.
- (b) The Evaluating Committee shall be chaired by the Secretary of Development.
- (c) The Evaluating Committee shall determine the internal procedures and shall assemble periodically or as necessary to comply with the purposes of this Act.
- (d) The functions of the Evaluating Committee shall be the following, among others:
 - 1) To receive and review periodic reports of the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office on the incentives granted to small-scale green energy projects, under clause (1) of subsection (a) of Section 2.8 of this Act.
 - 2) To certify the quarterly competitive adjudication process under subclause (A) of paragraph (2) of subsection (a) of Section 2.8 of this Act, including medium-scale green energy projects selected on each competitive adjudication for the purpose of the incentives provided in clause (2) of subsection (a) of Section 2.8 of this Act.
 - 3) To approve any disbursement of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) or more from the Green Energy Fund.
 - 4) To receive and review periodic reports of the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office on the operations of the Green Energy Fund, including but not limited to, the income and disbursements thereof, amounts earmarked for future disbursements; administrative expenses; green energy projects and programs established or in process; future projections and strategic plan to achieve the goals and objectives of this Act.

Section 2.8. – Green Energy Investment Reimbursement Program. –

- (a) As of the effective date of this Act, the following incentives shall be granted to the owners of production units engaged in green energy production and sale based on the production unit capacity and pursuant to the following:

- (1) First Level – Small-scale Green Energy Projects:
- (A) An incentive shall be granted to small-scale green energy project production units equal to the amount resulting from multiplying: (i) the reference cost per watt of the technology used by the production unit; by (ii) the installed capacity of the concerned production unit; by (iii) the percentage of the partial reimbursement determined by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office for the technology used by such production unit; provided, however, that under no circumstances the total amount of the incentive shall exceed sixty percent (60%) of the installation cost of the production unit.
 - (B) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall periodically publish, at least once every fiscal year, the green energy production technologies eligible to participate in the incentive program, the partial reimbursement percentage established for each of those technologies, as well as the reference cost for each technology, such reference cost shall be determined by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office based on the objective criteria to be established through regulations.
 - (C) The incentives granted under subclause (A) of clause (1) of subsection (a) of this Section shall be disbursed from the Green Energy Fund, and be limited to the funds budgeted by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office for such purposes for the corresponding fiscal year.
 - (D) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall exclusively retain the power to evaluate and approve the applications for incentives filed by the owners of small-scale green energy project production units under this clause (1) which power may be exercised with specialized advisers. The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office is hereby empowered to authorize participating financial institutions and cooperatives to receive and process applications for incentives under this clause (1), as well as to disburse the incentives granted pursuant thereto, subject to such conditions and requirements established by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office through regulation.
 - (E) The members of a controlled group of corporations, as such term is defined in Section 1.4 of this Act, may receive incentives under this clause (1) for just one small-scale green energy project per controlled group per fiscal year of the Government of Puerto Rico.

(2) Second Level – Medium-scale Green Energy Projects:

(A) An incentive shall be granted to medium-scale green energy project production units equal to the amount resulting from multiplying: (i) the percentage of the partial reimbursement determined by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office for the technology used by such production unit; by (ii) the installation cost of the production unit; provided, however, that under no circumstances the total amount of the incentive shall exceed fifty percent (50%) of the installation cost of the production unit. Such incentive shall be determined according to the following procedure:

- (i) The incentives granted under this clause (2) shall be adjudicated quarterly, that is, four times a year, as determined by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office.
- (ii) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall publish quarterly, at least thirty days prior to the commencement of each quarter, the green energy production technologies eligible to participate in the incentive program, the percentage of the partial reimbursement established for such quarter for each one of said technologies, as well as the funds available for incentives on such quarter for each technology.
- (iii) The incentives provided under this clause (2) shall be granted by means of competitive adjudication, as established through regulations, from among the projects submitted. This competitive adjudication process shall be exempt from the applicability of the provisions of Act No. 170 of August 12, 1988, as amended, known as the “Uniform Administrative Procedure Act”, of Puerto Rico. For such purposes, the adjudication notice shall include the terms for its review.
- (iv) The proposing owner of a medium-scale green energy project shall submit a proposal to the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office, not later than the fifth day of the first month of the applicable quarter.
- (v) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall adjudicate incentives taking into account that the proposals are consistent with the applicable specifications; the terms of delivery; the ability of the proponent to enter into and comply with the contract; the economic responsibility of the proponent, his/her reputation and integrity; the quality and the type of equipment; the energy production cost; the incentives or benefits received by the proponent from other sources; the available funds for each technology; and any other conditions that the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may deem reasonable.

- (vi) Not later than forty (40) days after the due date of the term to submit the proposals, the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall notify its determination through certified mail to the proponents whose projects were denied. Any competitive adjudication shall be carried out before the next quarter begins. The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall notify the proponents not selected on the reasons why the incentives were not granted.
- (vii) The proponents whose projects were denied shall have ten (10) days as of the day of notice to request reconsideration. The filing of a request for reconsideration shall be a jurisdictional requirement to request judicial review.
- (viii) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall issue a final notice of denial not later than fifteen (15) days as of the date of filing of the request for reconsideration.
- (ix) If the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office denies, accepts or takes no action within fifteen (15) days as of the filing of the reconsideration, the term to request judicial review shall start to count once again as of the day of notice of such determination or as of the expiration of the fifteen (15) days to consider it, as the case may be.
- (x) The proponents who receive an adverse final notice may request judicial review by the filing a request for judicial review with the Court of Appeals within a jurisdictional term of ten (10) days as of the adverse final notice. Consistent with the interest of maintaining an efficient process within the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office, in accordance with the competitive adjudication process provided in this Act, the mere filing of a request for judicial review with the Court of Appeals shall not automatically stay the processes before the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office, but rather such stay remedy must be requested through a motion and justified by complying with all the requirements for an order in aid of jurisdiction. Any order issued by the Court of Appeals to stay the procedures before the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office must be issued within a five (5) day term as of the request, and any order issued within such five (5) day term may only affect or apply in a limited manner to the amount being challenged, thus the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may grant the incentives to the other selected projects up to the total amount available after deducting the sum of the incentives applicable to the project or projects under judicial review. If the Court of Appeals does not issue a stay order within five (5) days as of the filing of the motion requesting such remedy, the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall carry out the competitive adjudication as if no request for judicial review was filed. However, if the Court of Appeals issues a stay order within the five (5) day term as of the filing of the request for judicial review was filed, then, the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall grant the incentives of the other selected projects without delay, deducting the sum of the incentives applicable to the project or projects under judicial review. No other judicial review procedure or request may be initiated or filed in addition to the one provided for in this Act or with terms and procedures other than those herein established.

- (B) The document of adjudication of the partial reimbursement of each medium-scale green energy project shall establish the terms and conditions that the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may deem necessary or convenient, including, but not limited to, the term granted by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office for the construction and installation of the project, which term shall not exceed two (2) years. The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may, upon sworn petition by the proponent, extend such term in the event of force majeure or other circumstances that the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may deem meritorious; provided, that in these cases, the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may require the posting of a bond to guarantee the completion of the project.

- (C) The incentives granted under subclause (A) of clause (2) of subsection (a) of this Section shall be disbursed from the Green Energy Fund, and be limited to the funds budgeted by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office for such purposes available for the corresponding fiscal year.
- (D) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall be charged with the administration of the available funds as well as the disbursement of the incentives granted under subclause (A) of clause (2) of subsection (a) of this Section.
- (E) The proponents of projects classified under this production level may submit incentive proposals for more than one project per controlled group per quarter of the Government of Puerto Rico. However, regardless of the number of projects submitted by the members of a controlled group or by developers, the aggregate of all the proposals submitted by the members of a controlled group or developers for such quarter of the Government of Puerto Rico, shall be deemed to be one single project for the purpose of determining that such project is a medium-scale project.
- (F) The competitive adjudication process and the criteria to evaluate and select the projects to be granted the incentives provided under subclause (A) of clause (2) of subsection (a) of this Section shall be subject to the provisions of this Act or the regulations promulgated by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office.
- (G) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office may reject any proposal submitted when, in its judgment deems that, among other factors:
 - (i) The proponent or his/her contractors lack the knowledge, the necessary experience or financial or technical capacity necessary to carry out the project;
 - (ii) The nature or quality of the equipment or the proposed green energy technology does not meet the requirements stated by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office;
 - (iii) The proposed green energy technology has not been certified by the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office;
 - (iv) The quoted prices exceed the reference cost; or

(v) The project would not benefit the public interest.

(H) Proponents who apply for the incentives provided under subclause (A) of clause (2) of subsection (a) of Section 2.8 of this Act shall declare, under penalty of perjury, whether the green energy project, object of the proposal, is covered by one or more industrial or tax incentive laws, other tax incentives received by it, and the law or laws granting such incentives, when submitting the proposal to apply for the benefits provided under subclause (A) of clause (2) of subsection (a) of this Section. Noncompliance with this requirement shall be sufficient cause to deny the requested incentives.

(b) Large-scale Green Energy Projects Incentive Program.

The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office is hereby directed to establish a Green Energy Incentive Program, in collaboration with the Authority. Such program shall be established in accordance with this Act and have the purpose of granting incentives to large-scale green energy project owners. Under this program, the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall also establish a mechanism to develop a market to trade RECs related to large-scale green energy projects, which shall include, but not be limited to, the purchase and sale of RECs. The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall adopt the regulations, orders, and guidelines needed to establish this program, including, but not limited to, the contracting mechanisms to be employed by production unit owners. The Authority shall cooperate with the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office in developing and implementing this program.

(c) In order to determine the level of production applicable to one specific fiscal year or quarter of the Government of Puerto Rico for the purpose of the incentives available under subsection (a) of this Section:

(1) All the members of a controlled group of corporations as defined in Section 1.4 of this Act, shall be deemed to be, in the aggregate, one single producer, and

(2) All proposals and projects submitted during a fiscal year or quarter of the Government of Puerto Rico by the members of a controlled group of corporations or by developers shall be deemed to be one single project for such specific fiscal year or quarter of the Government of Puerto Rico.

(d) In the case of businesses engaged in green energy production or green energy producers operating under any industrial or tax incentive law:

(1) If, after June 30, 2011, they claim any special credit or deductions conferred by such industrial or tax incentive acts with respect to an investment in a production unit, including the credit described in subsection (d) of Section 5 of Act No. 73 of May 28, 2008, they shall be unable to avail themselves of the incentives granted under this Section, including those available under the Green Energy incentive program, during the term of their decree or grant under the industrial or tax incentive acts, including the extensions to such decree or grant; and

- (2) Such businesses that are not described in subsection (d)(1) of this Section, and which apply for the incentives provided in this Section, may not claim the special credits or deductions conferred by such industrial tax incentive laws, including businesses described in subsection (d) of Section 5 of Act No. 73 of May 28, 2008, as amended, with respect to the production unit object of the incentives under this Act, including those available under the Green Energy Incentive Program. Businesses engaged in green energy production shall choose between the incentive provided in this Section or the credits granted under the applicable industrial and tax incentive laws, since they may not avail themselves of both benefits with respect to a specific production unit.
- (e) Collection of Debts Against Granted Incentives – The Department of the Treasury may collect on the incentive granted to any business engaged in green energy production or any green energy producer at any of the levels described in this Section, any debt that such person may have with the Department of the Treasury except for debts that have been challenged or are under review.
- (f) The Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office shall establish the fees and charges to be collected on account of the processing of the incentives established in this Section, which shall be deposited into a Special Fund created to such effects by the Secretary of the Treasury with the purpose of defraying the regular operating expenses of the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office, therefore, any surplus at the end of the fiscal year shall be transferred to the General Fund of the Treasury of Puerto Rico, upon previous notice to the Office of Management and Budget of the Government of Puerto Rico.
- (g) The Green Energy Fund shall be the owner of the environment and social attributes of the projects that have been granted incentives under clauses (1) and (2) of subsection (a) of this Section, whether an REC or not; provided, that if a green energy producer has been granted incentives under clause (2) of subsection (a) of this Section with respect to any production unit, such producer shall be bound to transfer to the Green Energy Fund of Puerto Rico, free of charge, any REC in connection with such production unit.

Section 2.9. – Tax Rate. –

- (a) Fixed Income Tax Rate – Exempt businesses that hold a decree granted under this Act, shall be subject to a four percent (4%) fixed rate on their GEI for the entire corresponding exemption period as provided in this Section, from the date of commencement of operations as determined under Section 2.15 of this Act, in lieu of any other income tax, if any, levied by the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico or any other law.
- (b) Royalties and License Fees – Notwithstanding the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico, in the case of payments made by an exempt business that holds a decree under this Act to corporations, partnerships, or persons non-residents and not engaged in a trade or business in Puerto Rico, on account of the use or use privilege in

In the case of corporations or partnerships which, on the date they commence operations as exempt businesses have obtained profits or gains, the distributions of dividends or profits made as of said date shall be deemed to be made from the undistributed balance of said profits or gains, but once this balance is exhausted as a result of said distributions, the provisions of the preceding paragraph shall apply.

 - (2) Deduction for Current Losses Incurred in the Operation of an Exempt Business – If an exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act incurs a net loss in the operation declared as exempt under this Act, computed without the benefit of the special deductions provided in subsection (b) of this Section, said loss may be deducted from the GEI of the operation that incurred the loss.
 - (3) Deduction for Carried-over Losses from Previous Years – A deduction for carry-over of losses incurred in previous years, shall be granted as provided below:
 - (A) The excess of those losses that are deductible under clause (2) of this subsection may be carried over against the GEI of subsequent

- (B) Any net loss incurred in a year in which the option of subsection (b) of Section 2.15 is in effect, may be carried over solely against the GEI earned by the exempt business under the decree whereby the option of subsection (b) of Section 2.15 was exercised. Said losses shall be carried over in the order they were incurred.
- (C) Once the income tax exemption period has expired for the purpose of income taxes the net losses incurred in the operation declared as exempt under this Act, as well as any amount in excess of the deductions allowed under subsection (b) of this Section, which the exempt business is carrying over as of the expiration date of said period, may be deducted from any taxable income in Puerto Rico subject to the limitations provided in Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico. Said losses shall be deemed to be incurred for the last taxable year in which the exempt business that holds a decree under this Act enjoyed income tax exemption under the decree.
- (D) The total amount of the net operating loss to be carried over shall be computed pursuant to the provisions of Section 1124 of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico.

- (3) The exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act, may deduct all expenses incurred after the effective date of this Act in remodeling or repairing buildings, structures, machinery and equipment, in the taxable year they are incurred, in lieu of any capitalization of expenses required by the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico, whether said buildings, structures, machinery and equipment have been acquired or built before or after the effective date of this Act, and whether they have or have not been depreciated or used by another business or person prior to being acquired by the exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act.
- (4) The amount of the eligible investment described in clauses (1) and (3) of this subsection for the special deduction provided in this subsection, in excess of the GEI of the exempt business during the investment year, may be claimed as a deduction in subsequent tax years until said excess is exhausted.

Section 2.16. – Successor Business. –

- (a) General Rule. – A successor business may avail itself of the provisions of this Act, provided that:
 - (1) The exempt predecessor business has not ceased operations for more than six (6) consecutive months before the filing of the exemption application of the successor business, or during the exemption period of the successor business, unless this is due to a force majeure;
 - (2) The exempt predecessor business maintains its annual average number of jobs for the three (3) taxable years that end with the closing of its taxable year prior to the filing of the exemption application of the successor business, or the applicable part of said period while the decree of the successor business granted is in effect, unless, due to force majeure, said average cannot be maintained;
 - (3) The number of jobs of the successor business after its first year of operations is greater than twenty-five percent (25%) of the average annual number of jobs of the predecessor business referred to in clause (2) above;
 - (4) The successor business does not use the physical facilities, including land, buildings, machinery, equipment, inventory, supplies, trademarks, patents, and marketing outlets, having a value of fifty thousand (50,000) dollars or more and which have been previously used by the exempt predecessor business. The foregoing shall not apply to additions to property devoted to the production of green energy, even when said additions constitute physical facilities with a value of fifty thousand (50,000) dollars or more and which are being or have been used by the main unit or exempt predecessor business. The above notwithstanding, the Secretary of Development may determine, after recommendation of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, that the use of the physical facilities or the acquisition of any facility of an exempt predecessor business that is or was in operation shall be for the best economic and social interests of Puerto Rico, in view of the nature of said facilities, the number of jobs, the amount of the payroll, the investment, the location of the project, or other factors that in his/her judgment merit said determination.

- (b) Exceptions. – Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section, the conditions of the same shall be deemed to be complied with, when:
- (1) The successor business assigns to the exempt predecessor business such a portion of its annual number of jobs as may be necessary so that the annual number of jobs of the exempt predecessor business is maintained at or is equal to the annual number of jobs that said exempt predecessor business must maintain. The assignment provided herein shall not be covered by the decree of the successor business, but it shall enjoy the benefits provided under this Act, if any, with respect to the portion so assigned which the exempt predecessor business would have enjoyed thereon, as if such a portion had been its own annual production. If the exemption period of the exempt predecessor business has expired, the successor business shall pay the corresponding taxes on such a portion of its annual production assigned to the exempt predecessor business;
 - (2) The successor business declares as not covered by its decree, for property tax purposes, such a portion of its facilities as may be necessary so that the investment in physical facilities of the exempt predecessor business is maintained at or is equal to the total investment in physical facilities at the closing of the taxable year of such an exempt predecessor business prior to the filing of the exemption application of the successor business, minus depreciation thereon and minus any decrease in the investment in physical facilities that may have occurred as of the date the provisions of this clause are applied as a result of an authorization to use the same under clause (4) of subsection (a) of this Section. In those cases in which the tax exemption period of the exempt predecessor business has not expired, the successor business shall enjoy the benefits provided by this Act which the exempt predecessor business would have enjoyed with respect to the portion of its investment in said physical facilities that for the purposes of this clause it declares as not covered by its decree, if the said facilities had been used in producing its GEI;
 - (3) The Secretary of Development determines, after recommendation of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, that the operation of the successor business is for the best economic and social interests of Puerto Rico, in view of the nature of the physical facilities, the number of jobs, the amount of the payroll, the investment, the location of the project or any other factors that in his/her judgment merit said determination, including the economic situation undergone by a particular exempt business, and waives its full or partial compliance with the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section, with authority to condition the operations as may be convenient and necessary for the benefit of the best interests of Puerto Rico.

Section 2.17. – Governing Principles; Duties of the Director; Certificate of Compliance; and Other Procedures. –

Tax Exemption Office, and the Director thereof shall be required to oversee and ensure compliance with the Governing Principles stated below:

(1) Jobs. –

The incentivized activity and the exempt business shall promote the creation of new jobs.

(2) Sound Integration. –

The conceptual design and planning of the incentivized activity and the exempt business shall be carried out, first of all, taking into account environmental, geographical, and physical aspects, as well as the materials and goods that are abundantly available in the site where it is to be developed.

(3) Commitment to the Economic Activity. –

The incentivized activity and the exempt business shall acquire raw materials and products manufactured in Puerto Rico for the construction, maintenance, renovation or extension of the physical facilities thereof. If the purchase of said products cannot be financially justified when taking into account criteria such as the quality, quantity, price, or availability of these products in Puerto Rico, the Director may issue a certificate attesting to such fact.

(4) Commitment to Agriculture. –

The incentivized activity and the exempt business shall not affect and/or mitigate any adverse effect that the operation thereof in land of high agricultural significance may have. The Director shall evaluate the particularities of each case and may issue a certificate attesting to such fact.

(5) Transfer of Knowledge. –

The incentivized activity and the exempt business shall acquire services from professionals or enterprises with a presence in Puerto Rico. However, if this is not possible due to criteria such as availability, experience, specificity or skill, or any other valid reason recognized by the Director, the exempt business may acquire such services through an intermediary with a presence in Puerto Rico, which shall contract directly with the service provider chosen by the exempt business, in order to receive the requested services.

The term “Services” shall mean, but the list below shall not be construed as limiting the Director to include others by regulations, as the contracting of jobs related to:

- (B) construction and all that pertains to this sector;

- (C) financial, environmental, technological, scientific, management, marketing, human resources, information technology, and auditing consulting services;

- (6) Financial Commitment. –

The incentivized activity and the exempt business shall submit proof that they use the services of, and that they deposit a significant amount of the income derived from their economic activity in, banking and/or cooperative institutions with a presence in Puerto Rico. If the financial activity cannot be financially justified when taking into account criteria such as the availability or accessibility of these institutions in Puerto Rico, the Director may issue a certificate attesting to such fact.

The Director of the Industrial Tax Exemption Office shall be the sole official responsible for verifying and ensuring that the incentivized activity and the exempt business meet the eligibility requirements established in this Section and all other provisions of this Act, except for the provisions of the Green Energy Fund.

If the exempt business partially meets the requirements established in this Section, the Director shall be required to establish a formula that allows for the quantification of the aforementioned factors, and for the subtraction of the requirement that has not been met from the total percentage of the specific credit, in order to obtain the exact percentage of the benefit in question.

The Governing Principles set forth in this Section shall apply to every incentivized activity or exempt business that applies for any of the benefits granted under this Act as of December 1st, 2015. However, the provisions of this Section shall not apply to any request for renegotiation and/or conversion of a decree, as authorized in Section 6 of this Act made by any exempt business that has not been signed and completed prior to the aforementioned date.

- (b) Duties of the Director, Certificate of Compliance. –

In the evaluation, analysis, consideration, award, renegotiation, and revision of any incentives or benefits granted by this Act, the Department of Economic Development and Commerce, the Industrial Tax Exemption Office, and the Director thereof shall be required to oversee and ensure that the Governing Principles provided in subsection (a) of this Section, as well as the remaining provisions of this Act are complied with.

The Director shall be responsible for verifying and ensuring that the exempt businesses meet the requirements established in this Act, particularly those set forth in subsection (a) of this Section. If the exempt business fails to meet one or more of the requirements established in subsection (a) of this Section due to criteria such as quality, quantity, price, or availability in Puerto Rico, among other factors that, in the judgment of the Director, hinder, impair, or prevent the successful operation of the incentivized activity within reasonable parameters, the Director may issue a certificate attesting to such fact, exempting the exempt business, in whole or in part, from meeting the requirement in question.

If the exempt business fails to fully meet the requirements of subsection (a) of this Section, and fails to qualify for any of the exceptions to such provision, the Director shall be responsible for establishing a formula that allows for the quantification of the factors set forth in said Section, and for the subtraction of the requirement that has not been met from the total percentage of the specific benefit or incentive granted by this Act, in order to obtain the exact percentage of the benefit or incentive in question.

The Director shall be required and responsible for preparing a Certificate of Compliance annually, once the exempt business validate, in the judgment of said official, that it has met the requirements set forth in subsection (a) of this Section and complied with the other provisions of this Act. The Director shall verify the information submitted by exempt businesses annually so that the Certificate of Compliance is issued not later than on the fifteenth (15th) day of the second (2nd) month after the close of the taxable year of the applicant.

The Certificate of Compliance shall include, in turn, the following information regarding the exempt business: the name of the business, the cadastre number of the property or properties connected to the business; the merchant registration number; the account connected to the business as required in the “Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code of 2011”; the employer identification number; and the information required by Act No. 216-2014, better known as the “Fiscal Information and Permit Control Act”.

The Certificate of Compliance shall be issued by the Executive Director through the Interagency Validation Portal for the Granting of Incentives for the Economic Development of Puerto Rico to the agencies, public corporations, and municipalities responsible for granting the benefits or incentives under this Act. However, during the period in which the Portal is still not operating, it shall be the duty of the Director to issue a Certificate of Compliance to the agencies, public corporations, and municipalities responsible for granting benefits or incentives under this Act following the ordinary process. The filing of the Certificate of Compliance by the exempt business shall be an essential requirement for the agency, public corporation, or municipality to grant the benefit or incentive provided for in this Act.

Actions taken by the Secretary of the Department of the Treasury, the Executive Director of the Municipal Revenues Collection Center (CRIM, Spanish acronym), or any other government official or body, or public corporation concerned, in connection with the qualification process for the granting of the benefits or incentives under this Act shall be limited to the taxation aspects of the granting of the benefit or incentive in question, upon the issuance of a valid Certificate of Compliance, as provided by this Section. The Director shall be responsible, first and foremost, for overseeing eligibility under any and all provisions of this Act. However, the Secretary of the Department of the Treasury, the Executive Director of the Municipal Revenues Collection Center (CRIM), or any other government official or body, or public corporation concerned, in connection with any of the benefits or incentives granted under this Act may contact the applicant and the Director should further information be needed to validate the data on the Certificate of Compliance, and shall notify and request the applicant to supply such information in order to rectify the situation. The Secretary of the Department of the Treasury or the Executive Director of the Municipal Revenues Collection Center (CRIM) may deny any tax incentives or benefits requested if, in their judgment, the information requested has not been supplied. Moreover, the provisions of this Act shall not preclude, in any manner, the power conferred to the Secretary of the Treasury under Section 6051.02 of Act No. 12011, as amended, known as the ‘Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code of 2011’; and, if necessary, the power to revoke any incentives previously granted by virtue of a Certificate of Compliance, in accordance with the corresponding Act; or the power to refer the case to the pertinent agency or public corporation for the corresponding action.

(c) Regular Procedure. –

- (1) Tax Exemption Application. – Any person who has established or proposes to establish in Puerto Rico an exempt business may file an application for the incentives under this Act with the Secretary of Development, upon filing the corresponding application duly sworn before the Exemption Office.

At the time of filing, the Director shall collect the corresponding processing fees, which shall be paid by certified check, bank or postal money order to the order of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The Secretary of Development shall establish through regulation the processing fees to be collected. Provided that said regulation shall be revised every three (3) years after its approval.

The fees in effect under Act No. 73 of May 28, 2008, as amended, shall remain in effect until the approval of the first regulation under this provision.

(2) Interagency Consideration of Applications. –

- (A) Once an application under this Act is received by the Exemption Office, the Director thereof shall send, within five (5) days counted as of the filing date of the application, a copy of such application to the Secretary of the Treasury and the Director of Development in order for the latter, in consultation with the Executive Director, to file an eligibility report and issue a recommendation on the activity to be carried out and other facts in connection with the application. When evaluating the application, the Secretary of the Treasury shall verify compliance by the shareholders or business partners of the applying business with their tax responsibilities under the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico. Such verification shall not be necessary in the case of shareholders not residents of Puerto Rico or public corporations. Failure to comply with said tax responsibility shall be grounds for Secretary of the Treasury not to endorse the exemption application of the applying business.

- (B) Once the Director of Development files the Eligibility Report and issues his/her recommendations, he/she shall send a copy of the decree project, within five (5) business days after having received the necessary documents to process the case, to the concerned agencies, including the concerned municipality and the Municipal Revenues Collection Center (CRIM, Spanish acronym), for their evaluation and recommendations. Any unfavorable recommendations in connection with the decree project shall include the reasons therefore.

The agencies and municipalities consulted by the Director shall have thirty (30) days to file their report or recommendations in connection with the decree project referred to them. In the event that the recommendation of the agency or municipality be favorable, or the same is not received by the Exemption Office during the abovementioned thirty (30) day term, such decree project shall be deemed to have obtained a favorable recommendation and the Secretary of Development may take the corresponding action regarding such application.

In the event that the municipality raises any objection with respect to the decreed project referred to it, the Exemption Office shall consider such objection, as necessary, and the Exemption Office shall notify the parties and corresponding agencies on the administrative action or review of the decree project deemed pertinent. Once the controversy under consideration is settled, the Director shall make the determination that he/she deems appropriate and submit the case to the Secretary of Development for final consideration.

- (C) In the case of amendments to grants awarded pursuant to this Act, the period for the agencies and municipalities concerned to submit a report or opinion before the Director shall be twenty (20) days.
- (D) Once the reports are received, or the term to submit such report elapses, the Director shall submit the decree project and his/her recommendation to the consideration of the Secretary of Development within the following five (5) days.
- (E) The Director may rest on the recommendations submitted by those agencies and municipalities issuing such reports and opinions and may request them to support the same.

- (F) The Secretary of Development shall issue a final determination, in writing, within a term not to exceed five (5) days as of the date the project of decree was submitted to his/her consideration.
- (G) The Secretary of Development may delegate unto the Director those functions that, in his/her discretion, are convenient to expedite the administration of this Act, except for the function of approving or denying original tax exemptions to be granted under this Act.

(3) Additional Provisions. –

- (A) The Exemption Office may require tax exemption decree applicants who submit the necessary sworn statements to establish the stated, required or appropriate facts to determine whether the operations or proposed operations of the applicant qualify under the provisions of this Act.
- (B) The Director may hold any public or administrative hearings as necessary to comply with the duties and obligations imposed under this Act. In addition, he/she may require tax exemption decree applicants to furnish any proof that may support the tax exemption requested.

The Director or the Special Examiner of the Exemption Office designated by the Director, with the approval of the Secretary of Development, may receive the proof presented in connection with any decree application and shall be empowered to summon witnesses and take statements with respect to the alleged facts or otherwise related to the requested decree, take oaths to any person making a statement before him/her and submit a report to the Secretary of Development in connection with the proof presented, together with his/her recommendations on the case.

- (C) Any person that commits or attempts to commit, by him/herself or on behalf of someone else, any misrepresentation or deceitful representation in connection with any tax exemption application, grant or any violation of the provisions regarding predecessor or successor businesses shall be found guilty of a third degree felony, and upon conviction, shall be punished pursuant to the penalty provided for such kind of offense in the Puerto Rico Penal Code, as amended.

Provided further that, in these cases, the exemption decree shall be revoked retroactively and the grantee or its shareholders shall become liable for all taxes that were fully or partially exonerated under this Act.

(D) The fees, charges, and penalties prescribed under clause (1) of subsection (a) of this Section shall be covered into a Special Account created to such purposes in the Department of the Treasury, in order to defray the regular operating expenses of the Exemption Office. Before resorting to the funds deposited in the Special Account, the Exemption Office shall submit every year, for the approval of the Government's Office of Management and Budget, an expense budget chargeable to the Special Account funds. The resources of the Special Account designated to defray the regular operating expenses of the Exemption Office may be complemented with fund appropriations from the General Fund of Puerto Rico, as necessary.

(E) The Exemption Office shall establish any systems necessary to facilitate the electronic filing and transmittal of exemption applications and documents in connection therewith, in order to expedite interagency evaluation of the exemption applications and the procedures in general.

(d) Extensions. –

- (1) Any exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act may request to the Secretary of Development, before the expiration of its decree, tax extension of the decree in effect if such business shows that it shall continue carrying out the eligible activity.
- (2) The decree's extension shall not exceed ten (10) additional years to those granted in the original decree.
- (3) The exempt business to which a decree extension is granted under this Act shall be subject to a ten percent (10%) fixed rate on its GEI during the extension period, in lieu of the tax provided in subsection (a) of Section 2.9 of this Act, or any other income tax, if any, levied under the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico or any other law.
- (4) During the extension period, the exempt business shall enjoy a fifty percent (50%) exemption from municipal and state taxes on real and personal property used in developing, organizing, building, establishing or operating the Eligible Activity covered under the decree, in lieu of the exemption provided under subsection (a) of Section 2.12 of this Act.
- (5) During the extension period, the exempt business shall enjoy a fifty percent (50%)-exemption from municipal licenses, excises, and other taxes imposed by any municipal ordinance, in lieu of the exemption provided under subsection (a) of Section 2.13 of this Act.
- (6) The extension granted under this subsection (b) may not be reapplied for upon the expiration of the extended term set forth under clause (2) of this subsection.

- (A) Any exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act may request the Secretary of Development to consider renegotiating its decree in effect if it shows that it shall make a substantial investment in, or a substantial renovation of its existing operations, which represents not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the initial investment for which the original decree to be renegotiated was granted. If said exempt business shows to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Development that it is unable to meet the abovementioned investment increase requirement, it shall submit the necessary evidence to the Exemption Office. The Secretary of Development, with prior favorable recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Director of Development, and the Executive Director, and with the previous recommendation of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, may, only in his/her discretion, consider such renegotiation taking into account any other factor or circumstance which reasonably shows that the renegotiation of the decree shall benefit the social and economic interest of Puerto Rico.
- (B) The terms granted under a decree renegotiated in accordance with this clause shall not exceed an additional fifteen (15) years to those granted under the original decree.
- (C) For purposes of this Section, the terms “substantial investment” and “substantial renovation” shall have the meaning determined by the Executive Director through regulations.
- (D) For purposes of this Section, the investment of the exempt business in its existing operations shall be computed according to the book value of the property devoted to the eligible activity, computed with the depreciation benefit admissible under the straight-line method, taking into account the useful life of said property determined according to Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico, in lieu of any other accelerated depreciation allowed by law.
- (E) If the renegotiation requested is granted, the Secretary of Development, with the previous recommendation of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, shall take into account the location, the investment, the decree’s remainder period, the tax incentives already enjoyed, and its financial capacity, in order for the exempt business to obtain an additional exemption period under a renegotiated decree with tax incentives adjusted under this Act.

- (F) The Secretary of Development shall establish the terms and conditions deemed necessary and convenient for the best interests of Puerto Rico within the term provided herein, and may, at his/her discretion, with the previous recommendation of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, impose special requirements, limit the exemption period and percentage, limit the taxes to be exempt, and require and provide any other necessary term or condition to achieve the purpose of developing green energy sources proposed by this Act.
 - (G) When the exempt business interested in renegotiating its decree fails to comply with the investment increase requirement provided in subclause (A) of this clause (1), the Secretary of Development may, with the previous favorable recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Director of Development, and the Executive Director, and the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, impose a fixed seven percent (7%) tax rate on the GEI.
 - (H) If the Secretary of Development, upon previous consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, the Director of Development and the Executive Director, and the agencies issuing tax exemption reports, determines that a renegotiation would be in harmony with the Public Policy, the tax rate for the decree shall be four percent (4%).
 - (I) All other terms, conditions, and incentives contained in this Act, which do not contravene with the provisions of this subsection, shall apply to the exempt businesses covered thereunder.
 - (J) After the renegotiation of the decree, the exempt business may apply for an exemption as provided in subsection (b) of this Section.
- (2) Conversion of Exempt Business under Industrial or Tax Incentive Laws. –

An exempt business that has obtained a decree under industrial or tax incentive laws and is engaged in an Eligible Activity may opt to avail itself of the provisions of this Act, subject to the limits set forth hereinbelow, provided that it shows compliance with all the applicable legal provisions.

- (A) The decree of any business exempt under industrial or tax incentive laws, which opts to avail itself of the benefits of this Act, shall be adjusted in order for the benefits under Section 2.9 to 2.15 of this Act to be granted.
- (B) In order to determine the term of the decree converted under this Act, the period during which the business has enjoyed exemption under the decree or grant under industrial or tax incentive laws shall be subtracted from the term provided in Section 2.15 of this Act.

- (C) The exempt business that converts its decree under the provisions of this subsection, which on the conversion date had been operating under industrial or tax incentive laws, may distribute the income earned before the effective date of the conversion on any subsequent period, in accordance with the tax treatment set forth in the law under which such income was earned.
- (D) An exempt business that avails itself of the provisions of this subsection shall pay taxes in full in connection with its income, in accordance with the tax treatment set forth in the law under which such income was earned.
- (E) The benefits under this subsection may be applied for within twelve (12) months as of the effective date of this Act, and the effectiveness of its provisions may be established as of the first day of the taxable year in which the same are applied for, but never before the effective date of this Act, and until the first day of the following taxable year, at the option of the exempt business.
- (F) All other terms, conditions, and incentives contained in this Act, which do not contravene with the provisions of this subsection, shall apply to the exempt businesses covered thereunder.

(f) Denial of Application. –

- (1) Denial if not for the Benefit of Puerto Rico. – The Secretary of Development may deny any application if he/she determines that the same is not in the best economic and social interests of Puerto Rico, after considering the nature of the physical facilities, number of jobs, the amount of the payroll, and the investment, the location of the project, the environmental impact thereof, or other factors, that in his/her judgment merit such determination, as well as the recommendations of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports.

The applicant may, after having been notified of the denial, request reconsideration to the Secretary of Development within sixty (60) days after receipt of the notice, stating the facts and arguments in connection with its application, which it believes to be pertinent, including the benefit for Puerto Rico, that it believes shall render such request for reconsideration meritorious.

In the event that the application is reconsidered, the Secretary of Development may accept any proposed project or eligible activity offered for the benefit of Puerto Rico and may require and provide any other term or condition that is in the best interest of Puerto Rico and the purposes of this Act.

(2) Denial for Conflict with the Public Interest. –

The Secretary of Development may deny any application when he/she determines, based on the facts submitted for his/her consideration and after the applicant has been afforded the opportunity to make a thorough presentation the issue in dispute, that the application is in conflict with the public interest of Puerto Rico for any of the following reasons:

(A) That the applying exempt business has not been organized as a permanent bona fide business, or in light of the moral or financial reputation of the people constituting the same, the plans and methods to obtain financing for the eligible activity, the nature or intended use for the eligible activity or any other factor that may indicate that there is a reasonable possibility that granting of the exemption shall be detrimental to the economic and social interest of Puerto Rico; or

(B) Any other reasons for conflict with Puerto Rico's public interest.

(g) Transfer of Exempt Business. –

(1) General Rule. – The transfer of a tax exemption grant or the stock, property or other interest on property of an exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act must be previously approved by the Director. If the same is carried out without previous approval, the exemption grant shall be rendered null as of the date the transfer occurred, except in those cases listed in clause (2) of this subsection. The above notwithstanding, the Director may retroactively approve any transfer made without his/her approval when in his/her judgment the circumstances of the case so justify, taking into consideration the best interests of Puerto Rico and the purposes of this Act.

(2) Exceptions. – The following transfers shall be authorized without the need of previous consent:

(A) The transfer of the assets of a decedent to his/her estate or the transfer by bequest or inheritance.

(B) The transfer under the provisions of this Act.

(C) The transfer of stock or any interest in a partnership when such a transfer does not directly or indirectly result in a change in the ownership or control of an exempt business that holds a decree under this Act.

(D) The transfer of stock of a corporation that owns or operates an exempt business that holds a decree granted under this Act, when the same occurs after the Director has determined that any transfer of the stock of said corporation shall be allowed without his/her prior approval.

- (E) The pledge, mortgage or other security with purpose of securing a bona fide debt. Any transfer of control, title or interest by virtue of said contract shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section.
- (F) The transfer by law, court order or by a bankruptcy judge to a receiver or trustee. Any subsequent transfer to a third party other than the same debtor or former bankrupt shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section.
- (G) The transfer of all assets of an exempt business that holds a decree issued under this Act to an affiliate business. For the purposes of this subclause, affiliate businesses are those whose shareholders or partners hold eighty percent (80%) or more of the exempt business common stock or voting shares issued and outstanding.

(3) Notice. –

Any transfer included in the exceptions of subsection (2) of this Section shall be notified to the Director by the exempt business that holds a decree under this Act, with a copy to the Director of Development, the Executive Director, and Secretary of the Treasury within thirty (30) days of the transfer, except those included under subclause (D) of clause (2) that do not convert the stockholder into a holder of ten percent (10%) or more of the outstanding corporate capital, and those included under subclause (G) of clause (2), which shall be notified by the exempt business to the Director, with a copy to the Secretary of the Treasury, prior to the transfer.

(h) Procedure for Permissive and Mandatory Revocations. –

(1) Permissive Revocation. –

- (A) When the grantee fails to comply with any of the obligations imposed by this Act or its regulations or by the terms of the exemption decree.
- (B) When the grantee fails to commence or to complete the construction of the facilities needed for the eligible activity, or fails to commence eligible activity within the period fixed for such purposes in the decree.
- (C) When the grantee suspends its operations for more than thirty (30) days without the authorization of the Secretary of Development. The Secretary of Development shall authorize such suspensions for periods greater than thirty (30) days when they occur as a result of extraordinary causes.
- (D) When the grantee fails to comply with its tax responsibility under the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico and other tax laws of Puerto Rico.

(2) Mandatory Revocation. –

The Secretary of Development shall revoke any decree granted under this Act if it was obtained by false or fraudulent representations concerning the nature of the eligible activity to be carried out in Puerto Rico, or the use that has been given or shall be given to property devoted to the eligible activity, or any other facts or circumstances which wholly or partially motivated the granting of the decree.

An additional cause for revocation under this clause arises when a person commits or attempts to commit, by him/herself or on behalf of any other person, a violation of the provisions regarding successor businesses or exempt predecessor businesses.

In the event of such a revocation, all net income computed, previously reported as GEI, whether or not distributed, as well as any distribution thereof, shall be subject to the taxes levied by the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico. In addition, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have filed a false or fraudulent tax return with intent of evading the payment of taxes, and shall, therefore, be subject to the penal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico. The tax due in such cases, as well as any other taxes theretofore exempt and unpaid, shall become due and payable from the date when such taxes would have become due and would have been payable had it not been for the decree, and shall be levied and collected in accordance with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of Puerto Rico.

(3) Procedure. –

In the event of the revocation of a decree granted under this Act, the grantee shall have the opportunity to appear and be heard before the Director or any Special Examiner of the Exemption Office designated to such purposes, who shall report his/her conclusions and recommendations to the Secretary of Development, with previous recommendation of the agencies issuing tax exemption reports.

Section 2.18. – Nature of Grants. –

(a) In general. –

The tax exemption decree granted under this Act shall be deemed to be in the nature of a contract between the grantee, its shareholders, partners or owners, and the Government of Puerto Rico, and shall be deemed to be the governing law between the parties. Said contract shall be construed liberally in harmony with the purpose of this Act of promoting the protection of our environment and the socioeconomic development of Puerto Rico by establishing green energy sources. The Secretary of Economic Development and Commerce shall exercise discretion to include in the name or on behalf of the Government of Puerto Rico those terms, conditions and exemptions that are consistent with the purposes of this Act and that shall promote such objectives, taking into consideration the nature of the petition or action requested, as well as the related facts and circumstances that may apply to each particular case.

(b) Obligation to Comply With the Representation Made in the Application. –

All exempt businesses shall conduct their substantially exempt operations as represented in the application, except when these have been changed under amendments authorized by the Secretary of Development as requested by the grantee, pursuant to the provisions of this Act.

(c) Administrative Decisions; Finality. –

- (1) All decisions and determinations of the Secretary of Development under this Act as to the granting of the decree and the contents thereof shall be final and no judicial or administrative review or any other recourse shall proceed, unless otherwise specifically provided; provided, that once a decree is granted under this Act, no agency, public instrumentality, political subdivision, public corporation or municipality, whether autonomous or not, of the Government of Puerto Rico, other than the Secretary of Economic Development and Commerce or the Governor, may challenge the legality of such decree or of any provisions thereof.
- (2) Any grantee adversely affected or harmed by any action taken by the Secretary of Development to revoke and/or cancel an exemption decree pursuant to clause (2) of subsection (f) of Section 2.17 of this Act, shall be entitled to a judicial review by filing an appeal for review with the Puerto Rico Circuit Court of Appeals within thirty (30) days from the final decision or adjudication of the Secretary of Development. During the process of the judicial review, the Secretary of Development is hereby authorized to postpone the effective date of any action taken by him/her when, in his/her judgment justice so requires, under those conditions required and to the extent necessary to prevent irreparable harm. When said postponement is requested and denied, the court before which the review is requested through a certiorari, including the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico, may decree any procedure necessary and appropriate to postpone the effective date of any action taken by the Secretary of Development, to preserve the status or rights of the parties until the conclusion of the review proceedings, after posting bond in favor of the Secretary of the Treasury for the amount of the unpaid taxes to date, plus interest and penalties, plus interest computed for the period of one (1) year at the prevailing legal rate.
- (3) Any ruling or judgment of the Circuit Court of Appeals of Puerto Rico shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico by means of a certiorari requested by any of the parties as provided by law.

Section 2.19. – Periodic Reports to the Governor and the Legislature. –

- (d) Report by the Secretary of Treasury. – Notwithstanding any other report required by law, the Secretary of the Treasury shall likewise render a yearly report to the Legislature indicating the manner in which the exempt businesses have fulfilled their tax obligations, including a comparison with the previous year and a projection of said conduct for the next three (3) years following the year to which the report corresponds. Said report shall be filed within one hundred and eighty (180) days following the closing of each fiscal year.

The Department of the Treasury, together with the Industrial Development Company and the Commonwealth Energy Public Policy Office, shall establish the necessary questionnaires and regulations to attain the purposes of this Section.

- (e) Cooperation among Agencies. – The Government agencies and the municipalities shall furnish the information provided in this Section to the Secretary of Development and the Secretary of the Treasury.
